ABOUT THE PROVIDER

Kellie Logue, CRNA, NSPM
Non-Surgical Pain Management

A self-described “people person”, Kellie Logue loves interacting with those who need help. “I thrive off problem solving, which aligns perfectly with treating and diagnosing chronic pain,” she comments. She enjoys great satisfaction from educating her patients and helping them reduce their pain and improve their daily abilities. Her approach to care is patient focused. “We all respond differently to complex information during times of pain and suffering”, explains Kellie, who often spends an hour with a patient to understand his or her unique medical needs. “Being able to place myself in the patient’s position enables me to build and understand the patient’s perspective.” She also believes that being supportive is a critical part of caring. “Unfortunately, we cannot heal everyone, but we can walk alongside our patients during difficult times.”
